

KERRY GODFREY SCROGGINS

Growing up in Pittsfield, Massachusetts, Kerry became a ski instructor as a teenager at her nearby mountain, Bousquet Ski Area. She got the bug to ski race and eventually skied in high school and then for the University of Massachusetts.

A short stint in Vail enabled her to get her Level III PSIA certification and she eventually moved to Portland, OR after spending nearly ten years in New York City and Boston working in Advertising.

Kerry spends most of her free time skiing on Mt. Hood with her family and travels as often as possible to other areas to chase snow when she takes time away from Nike where she has worked for 25 years in Brand Marketing.

Kerry's children Tucker and Taitum grew up ski racing in the Pacific Northwest Ski Division. Her husband Willy Scroggins currently races Masters for the Pacific Northwest Division and is the co-owner of WILLYCAMP.COM where he coaches athletes to "Ski Willy Fast."